

Oakland School for the Arts
Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)
Notice for Directory Information

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), a Federal law, requires that Oakland School for the Arts, with certain exceptions, obtain your written consent prior to the disclosure of personally identifiable information from your child's education records. However, Oakland School for the Arts may disclose appropriately designated "directory information" without written consent, unless you have advised the Oakland School for the Arts to the contrary in accordance with Oakland School for the Arts procedures. The primary purpose of directory information is to allow the Oakland School for the Arts to include information from your child's education records in certain school publications. Examples include:

- A playbill, showing your student's role in a drama production;
- The annual yearbook;
- Honor roll or other recognition lists;
- Graduation programs; and
- Newspaper or social media posts showcasing student accomplishments or artistic work.

Directory information, which is information that is generally not considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if released, can also be disclosed to outside organizations without a parent's prior written consent. Outside organizations include, but are not limited to, companies that manufacture class rings or publish yearbooks. In addition, two federal laws require local educational agencies (LEAs) receiving assistance under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, as amended (ESEA) to provide military recruiters, upon request, with the following information – names, addresses and telephone listings – unless parents have advised the LEA that they do not want their student's information disclosed without their prior written consent.

If you do not want Oakland School for the Arts to disclose any or all of the types of information designated below as directory information from your child's education records without your prior written consent, you must notify the Oakland School for the Arts in writing by December 15, 2020.

Oakland School for the Arts has designated the following information as directory information:
